

We're Au Fait with the Law

With 2,500 Solicitor firms banking with Barclays we recognise that as a legal firm you have special banking needs. These include keeping your firm's money and your clients' money properly segregated, in addition to meeting Law Society quality standards.

To help you achieve this, we offer you a dedicated Relationship Manager who specialises in supporting legal firms, and has a wide experience of the specific financial management demands on your firm.

Our Relationship Managers have acquired knowledge from working with other legal practices, ensuring up-to-date awareness of the developments affecting your profession and the wider Legal Sector. Our specialist Relationship Managers are qualified LexCel-trained consultants, who understand practice management issues, so they're ready with the answers you need.

As well as a Relationship Manager your firm also has two additional named contacts, so your day-to-day banking needs are fully supported by someone who understands you. Both members of your support team are Solicitors Account Rule trained so they understand not just your business but the wider rules affecting the Legal Sector.

In addition your Barclays specialist Solicitor Relationship Manager will provide your practice solutions designed to make your business run smoother.

- We have worked alongside the Law Society to ensure our Clients accounts meet all the requirements of the Solicitors' Accounts Rules
